JULY 6, 1769. THURSDAY,

From the POLITICAL REGISTER, for April, 1769.

Accent of the Proceedings at the King's-Arms Tavern in Cornbill, pursuant to an Advertisement inviting the Merciants, Traders, and principal Inbabitants of the City of London, to meet there on Wednesday the First of March, to consider of an Address to be presented to his Majesty.

WEDNESDAY, March 1.

T a Meeting intended for the Gentlemen, Merchants, and Traders of the City of London, held at the King's Arms in Cornhill, and convened not only by Letter particularly ad-dreffed to some chosen Persons, but by public Advertisement; about Thirty Gentlemen met, about Thirty Gentlemen met, when Edmund Bochm, Efq; when Edmund Bochm, Efq; Much Confusion prevailed among the Gentlemen. Nothing was concluded but to adjourn that Meeting tilnext Wednesday, and then to consider if any Thing, and then to consider if any Thing, d what should be done.

In this Occasion the following Speech it is faid was ad-drifted to the Chairman, by a Gentleman unknown, who retired as scon as he had concluded it.

ROM the Pains which some Gentlemen have taken, and from the declared Purpose of the Invitation and from the declared Purpole of the Invitation to have received, I expected to have found a much fore numerous Assembly in this Place. The Appearance of a large Number of Gentlemen, let the Occasion e what it may, carries with it an Air of Importance, when it is not formal to the property of the prop be what it may, carries with it an Air of importance, had though it is not sufficient to make their Proceed-ings either wise or respectable, it gives them the Sanc-tica of Authority. I fear it will be found, upon Exa-mination, that the Reasons of calling us together have mation, that the Realons of Calling us together have ken as little confidered, as the Means of doing it with Credit and Success. It is so hasty and ill-concerted a Measure, that I am convinced it must be Ministerial; neature, that I am answering its pretended Purpose of and that instead of answering its pretended Purpose of Demonstration of Respect and Attachment to the Thene, it will furnish a most humiliating Proof, how little that declared Intention is regarded by the Public. But since we are assembled, it seems very proper for us to consider the Grounds and Pretences of this extraordinary Summons, that if they shall appear unjustistable, or about, we may at least avoid being made a Second diary Summons, that if they shall appear unjustifiable, or absurd, we may at least avoid being made a Second Time ridiculous in the Eyes of our Fellow Citizens. If I am not mistaken then, it is meant, in the First Place, to present an Address to our most gracious Sovereign, full of general Assurances of Duty and Assertion to his sacred Person and Family. We are then we express our Abhorrence of certain factious Proceedings, and the Authors of them, by which his Government has for a considerable Time past been disturbed; ment has for a confiderable Time past been disturbed; and particularly to declare our Disapprobation of cerand particularly to declare our Disapprobation of certain Meetings and public Associations, by which, we apprehend, the above Proceedings are supported. Now, sir, if our Address were to be confined to a few unmeaning Compliments to the Th—ne, no Objection could possibly be raised against it: The present Occasion is as proper as any other; and if this were all, we might find the Business ready done to our Hands, in any one of the laval Addresses which have been pre-racter of the best of Princes from the Administration of his Government; and, indeed, to what a desperate Condition would this Country be reduced, if those objects were so united, that a loyal and affectionate People could not distinguish between them. In this View, then, our Address would be perfectly unexceptionable. It would be harmless, because it would be infignificant. But if, as we have too much Reason to support, it be meant to pay a Compliment to the preinfect, it be meant to pay a Compliment to the pre-fert Ministry, we should previously enquire what Part of their Conduct deserves it. If that Enquiry should not turn out to their Advantage, to what End should take upon us to contradict the general Voice and sense of the Nation, but to make ourselves the Objects of universal Contempt?

If, in the Second Part of our Address, we mean no more than a general Declaration of our Abhorrence of Faction, I shall only say, that the Design, though innocent enough, is too trisling and impertinent to justify this extraordinary Measure. But if we propose to give the Name of Faction to the present universal and well founded Discontent, let us consider a little, what Right we have, and how far it will be prudent in us, to set the Opinions of a sew very inconsiderable Individuals, in Opposition to the united Voice of the whole People. If this be a Faction, I hope it will be found too strong for either Court or Ministry to resist. We shall be laughed at by the Public, and even the Ministry, who now set us on, will disown us. If, in the Second Part of our Address, we mean no Ministry, who now set us on, will disown us.

Ministry, who now set us on, will disown us.

But it seems there is a certain factious Meeting at the London-Tavern, which it becomes us to oppose, by a Counter-Meeting at the King's-Arms. Admitting the Necessity of this judicious Measure, let us, at least, endeavour to carry it through with Consistence; and, if we truly mean to oppose their Proceedings, let us begin with declaring our Abhorrence of their Principles. They profess that their Design is to support the Bill of Rights;—let us declare, that our Wishes, and Designs are of a very different Nature. Their Declaration that they are independent of all Party, will naturally lead us to confess, that most of us are the Tools of the Ministry; and, as to what they say of the Liberty of the Subject, it will be hard if we cannot answer it with the Prerogative of the Crown.

There is one Article, in which, I believe, the Ministry would be glad to see us follow the Example of nistry would be glad to see us follow the Example of the other Assembly;—A Countribution ever so small, would be a seasonable Relief to them.—Whatever Use they may put our Address to, we may be very sure they will receive our Money with Respect. This will be at once the most acceptable Proof of our Loyalty, and an unquestionable Pledge of our Sincerity. Without some such collateral Evidence, I greatly fear that we shall neither be thanked for our Address, nor will any sober Man believe, that the Authors of this inany sober Man believe, that the Authors of this in-fignificant, of this absurd, and impertinent Project, could possibly be in earnest.

L O N D O N, April 16.

WE are informed, that during the Altercation among the Ladies at Bath, some Secrets were discovered by the contending Parties, that are likely to be attended with disagreeable Consequences, especially in Respect to one Lady who was positively charged with a san previous to her Marriage, which the Husband thinks of so seriously, that if the Matter is not soon declared to his Satisfaction, a Separation is resolved on. It is added, that some of the Ladies lost their Temper so greatly, as to descend to mere Billingsgate Language, such as to call their Antagonits Base and W

A Gentleman from Bath confirms the News of the Riot among the Belles and Beaux; and gives us the following farther Particulars: It began first upon Mr. Plomer's ordering a Bench to be set for some Ladies who came in late, before another that was full. with a back handed Blow on the Head, that brought her Antagonist to the Floor; and then began the dreadful Conflict: The Gentlemen (who wear no Swords at Bath) sell to fifty Custs, the Ladies to pulling one another's Caps, to that the Floor was presently covered with Bags and Solitaires, laced Russes, Ladies Caps,

A Correspondent informs us, that the Disputes at Bath, concerning the Succession to the Office of Master of the Ceremonies, are at length happily concluded. Captain Wade is unanimously, elected. Five Hundred Pounds of the Surplus of the Ball Subscription for the Pounds of the Surplus of the Ball Subscription for the present Season is allowed to Major Brereton; and Mrs. Brereton is appointed a Benefit-Ball every Season, which Captain Wade obliges himself to make equal to acool. per Annum, if the Receipts of the Night should fall short of that Sum. The Ball Subscription is settled for the future at Three-Guineas, instead of Two:

April 24. The Office of Ordinance have received Orders to get ready 20,006 Sets of new Arms with all Expedition. As there are always Arms in the Tower for 60,000 Men at a Minute's Warning, and all the Arms of the reduced and disbanded Regiments at the End of the last War are still at Hand, this Order occasions much Speculation.

If the Want of Spirit should permit the French to possess themselves of Corsica, our Mediterranean Trade will be ruined; and as our American Trade is more than half lost already, it seems probable that this unhappy Kingdom may be reduced to the Situation it was a Thousand Years ago, when it had no Trade by Sea, other than what was carried on in small coassing

A Letter from Constantinople fays, " Advice being received that a neighbouring Power to Poland had affembled an Army of 40,000 Men upon the Frontiers, the Porto demanded of the Minister from Frontiers, the Porto demanded of the Minister from that Crown, with what View his Court has posted that Army; and as he has not given Satisfaction on the Subject, it is signified to him that he must give a positive Answer, since it greatly behoves the Grand Signior to know what to do in that Respect."

The Privy Council, which was to have been held on Friday, at St. James's, was postponed 'til this Day, which causes various Speculations.

The following is a most circumstantial Account of the Proceedings at the Half-Moon Tavern, Yesterday, mentioned in our last. Edward Bond, Esq was chosen Chairman. A Request for a Common Hall was agreed to, and immediately signed. About 12 o'Clock, the Chairman, attended by the whole Meeting, waited on the Lord Mayor, at the Mansson-House, to request his Lordship to call, as soon as possible, a Common Hall, in order to take the Sense of the Livery of London, on the Measures proper to be pursued by them under the present most alarming Situation of Affairs.—His Lordship received them with great Politeness; observed that the Request of so respectable a Part of the Livery of London demanded his most serious Attention; and that though there might be no President Livery of London demanded his most ferious Attention; and that though there might be no President to justify him in complying with this Request of the Livery; yet, as it was a Matter of some Doubt, whether the Peculiarity of our present Circumstances would not justify the Peculiarity of the Measure, his Lordship resolved to take the Opinion of the Common Council on this important Point; and declared, that their Determination would be of great Weight with him; and it is said that a Common Council will be summoned for Friday next.

Upon calling up the Names on Monday Night, at the Ship Tavern, at Ratcliffe Cross, it appeared that 1424 Freeholders had then signed the Petition.

A counter Petition is preparing by the Manaca at Kind of Remonstrance against the Mile-End Proceedings, and which is to be hawked round the Country to be signed. Many Bets are depending, and some very Considerable ones, that Twenty Names are not subscribed to it.

not subscribed to it.

Mr. Serjeant Glynn has declared his Approbation of every Measure taken by the Freeholders of the County of Middlesex in the depending Petition, and fully approves of every Sentence of it, and will present it, so that all Reports to the contrary are false.

To the Gentlemen, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Middlefex.

GENTLEMEN,

GENTLEMEN,

THE manly Perseverance, with the calm, but undaunted Spirit of your Condust, this Day, in Support of the Freedom of Electron, has crowned the just Expectations of the Public, and will for ever endear you to your Countrymen. The Honour I receive in being the Fourth Time elected your Representative to the great Council of the Nation, affects me in the most sensible Manner. My Gratitude shall appear in a Way worthy of such Constituents, worthy of such a Cause. Animated by your Example, and warmed, like you, with the holy Flames of Freedom, I shall, on every great Occasion, devote myself to the Good of the People, and Preservation of public Liberty. In this Cause I will act under your Auspices to the last Moment of my Life, fearless of Danger in Behalf of a Nation, which knows the inestimable Value of the fundamental Rights and Liberties of the Body of this People, and has frequently cemented them with the Blood of her heroic Sons, of her truest Patriots.

If any further Violence should frustrate the Effects of this Day's Proceedings, your Steadiness, Gentlemen, in Support of a Free Election, must, at last succeed. The Kingdom is too jealous of its noble Privimen, in support of a Free Election, mun, at lattice ceed. The Kingdom is too jealous of its noble Privileges, and is infpired with too active Courage, to furrender the Right to the present, or any future Administration, or meanly acquiesce in being deprived of it. When the British Constitution preserves its ancient Form or Spirit, you will have always in the House of Commons a Representative of your own voluntary Choice. You have withstood the various Attacks of a dangerous Ministry, and your vigorous Desence of your just Claims has rendered all their Attempts fruitless. Every Act of Power and Artisce of Corruption have hitherto sailed against your steady Virtue. The same Conduct regularly pursued, must, in the End, ensure you success. The Privilege of this free Nation will be restored and confirmed. You will be reverenced as the Patrons of our Rights, and every be reverenced as the Patrons of our Rights, and every future Age will pay to you the grateful Tribute, that the Liberty of England, in a most essential Point, was secured against the repeated Attacks of ministerial
